Peer-Reviewed Article

Overcoming Legal Impediments to Physician Orders for Life-Sustaining Treatment
Marshall B. Kapp

The Limits of Informed Consent for an Overwhelmed Patient: Clinicians’ Role in Protecting Patients and Preventing Overwhelm
Johan Bester, Cristie M. Cole, and Eric Kodish

Ethics and Interprofessionalism in Medical Education

From the Editor

The Ethics and Value of True Interprofessionalism
Colleen Farrell

Ethics Cases

Prioritizing Cross-Disciplinary Teaching and Learning and Patient Safety in Hospital-Based Environments
Commentary by Aimee Milliken

Interprofessional Training: Not Optional in Good Medical Education
Commentary by Paul Burcher

Resisting Outdated Models of Pedagogical Domination and Subordination in Health Professions Education
Commentary by Angel Chen and Maureen Brodie

Podcast

On the Need for Multiple Perspectives in Health Care: An Interview with Lachlan Forrow

Medical Education

Walking the Walk in Team-Based Education: The Crimson Care Collaborative Clinic in Family Medicine
Kirsten Meisinger and Diana Wohler
In the Literature

Interprofessional Clinical Ethics Education: The Promise of Cross-Disciplinary Problem-Based Learning 917
Melissa J. Kurtz and Laura E. Starbird

State of the Art and Science

Time-out: The Professional and Organizational Ethics of Speaking Up in the OR 925
Nancy Berlinger and Elizabeth Dietz

Teamwork in Health Care: Maximizing Collective Intelligence via Inclusive Collaboration and Open Communication 933
Anna T. Mayo and Anita Williams Woolley

Policy Forum

Overcoming Historical Separation between Oral and General Health Care: Interprofessional Collaboration for Promoting Health Equity 941
Lisa Simon

Shared Responsibility: Massachusetts Legislators, Physicians, and An Act Relative to Substance Use Treatment, Education, and Prevention 950
Meghan Rudder, Lulu Tsao, and Helen E. Jack

Medical Narrative

Decentering the Doctor: The Critical Value of a Patient Care Collective 960
Shara Yurkiewicz

About the Contributors 965