Avoiding Racial Essentialism in Medical Science Curricula
Lundy Braun and Barry Saunders

Teaching Clinical Ethics at the Bedside: William Osler and the Essential Role of the Hospitalist
Matthew William McCarthy and Joseph J. Fins

Moral Distress and Medicine

From the Editor
Moral Distress: A Call to Action
Subha Perni

Ethics Cases
How Should Resident Physicians Respond to Patients’ Discomfort and Students’ Moral Distress When Learning Procedures in Academic Medical Settings?
Commentary by Bonnie M. Miller

How Should Integrity Preservation and Professional Growth Be Balanced during Trainees’ Professionalization?
Commentary by Eli Weber and Sharon Gray

How Should Physicians Respond When the Best Treatment for an Individual Patient Conflicts with Practice Guidelines about the Use of a Limited Resource?
Commentary by Edmund G. Howe III

What Should Physicians Do When They Disagree, Clinically and Ethically, with a Surrogate’s Wishes?
Commentary by Terri Traudt and Joan Liaschenko

Podcast
Strategies for Addressing Moral Distress:
An Interview with Dr. Elizabeth Epstein

The Code Says
The AMA Code of Medical Ethics’ Opinions Related to Moral Distress 564
BJ Crigger

Medical Education
Antecedents and Consequences of Medical Students’ Moral Decision Making during Professionalism Dilemmas 568
Lynn Monrouxe, Malissa Shaw, and Charlotte Rees

In the Literature
Who Is Experiencing What Kind of Moral Distress? Distinctions for Moving from a Narrow to a Broad Definition of Moral Distress 578
Carina Fourie

State of the Art and Science
Initiatives for Responding to Medical Trainees’ Moral Distress about End-of-Life Cases 585
M. Sara Rosenthal and Maria Clay

Policy Forum
What Is the Role of Ethics Consultation in the Moral Habitability of Health Care Environments? 595
Wendy Austin

Strategies for Promoting High-Quality Care and Personal Resilience in Palliative Care 601
Katherine E. Heinze, Heidi K. Holtz, and Cynda H. Rushton

Medicine and Society
Culture and Moral Distress: What’s the Connection and Why Does It Matter? 608
Nancy Berlinger and Annalise Berlinger

History of Medicine
What Moral Distress in Nursing History Could Suggest about the Future of Health Care 617
Andrew Jameton

Images of Healing and Learning
Dirty Laundry: Drug Formulary Exclusions 629