ART OF MEDICINE
Journeys of Immigrant Families Across the Border
Nora Hiriart Litz and Isha Marina Di Bartolo, MD

Abstract
In an exhibition called El Viaje de los Niños (The Children’s Journey), members of the undocumented Mexican community in South Philadelphia created stories of their journey to the United States. With help from lead artist Nora Hiriart Litz, their experiences and thoughts on migration, family, love, loss, and hope are conveyed creatively via artwork.

Figure 1. El viaje fue la oscuridad mas profunda y sin un destino seguro, solo la infinita luz de la luna que me permitio continuar a mi destino, by Ali
Translation
The journey was the deepest darkness without a certain destiny, just the infinite light of the moon, which allowed me to march towards my future.

Media
Acrylic-based paint on wood.

Figure 2. La desesperacion, pobresa [sic] y un futuro incierto fue mi boleto. El telefono es mi pañuelo de lagrimas de tristeza y alegria que dia a dia vivo, by Mirna

Translation
Desperation and poverty and an uncertain future, those things were my ticket. The telephone is my handkerchief of tears, of sadness and joy, which I live through every day.

Media
Acrylic-based paint on wood.
Figure 3. Camine asía el norte y tome el toro por los cuernos para trabajar pero me siento aun solo, by Rico

Translation
I walked to the north and I took the bull by the horns so I could work, but I still feel alone.

Media
Acrylic-based paint on wood.
Figure 4. La tristeza de mi mama cuando me despedí, by Rosi

Translation
My mother’s sadness when I said goodbye.

Media
Acrylic-based paint on wood.

Nora Hiriart Litz is a Philadelphia-based artist who has long worked with the city’s Mexican immigrant community. She is involved in legal and educational initiatives through Puentes de Salud and other local organizations and has taken leadership in creating artistic and cultural projects that provide emotional support to the community.

Isha Marina Di Bartolo, MD is a graduate of the Yale School of Medicine and is currently a primary care resident at the University of Pennsylvania Medical Center in Philadelphia. A “DACA-mented” physician, her primary research interests include health disparities, investigating how implicit biases affect services delivered to patient populations, immigrant health care, and access to care.
